ROCKEFELLER

of the Marion Hotel, now shut down, for campaign headquarters. Rockefeller spokesmen said the two floors were set aside in case the governor ran again.

Still another link in the series of events that could lead to a conclusion that the governor will announce for re-election is that his executive secretary, Robert W. Faulkner, has ruled out any plans that he might run for attorney general after having said at one point that he was being encouraged to run and that he was considering it.

Faulkner's consideration of the race apparently had surprised some of Rockefeller's advisers, including John Ward, the head of the governor's public relations staff, whose reaction was that Faulkner already had a challenging job in his present position.

The pieces in the Republican puzzle will fall into place after Rockefeller makes his announcement. To be answered is the course that will be taken by state Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith, who has announced for the GOP gubernatorial nomination but refuses to say what he will do if Rockefeller enters the race, and by state Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, who switched from the Democratic party to the GOP and announced his intentions to run for either governor or lieutenant governor, depending on what Rockefeller and Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt did.

Britt said he does not want to run again. The lieutenant governor, Rockefeller's running mate in two successful campaigns, also is among those who believes the governor will seek a third term. Britt says Rockefeller is either a candidate again or is a great actor. Is he?

He jumped him immediately."

Salmonson said Hupe was knocked back into one of the seats and the hijacker "fell on him and had his gun in his stomach. That's when I got the gun and wrenched it away."

Hupe was listed in good condition at a Fairfax, Va., hospital. Not a passenger was hurt.

Salmonson said he was convinced the gunman had meant to crash the plane and kill everyone aboard even if he had been paid the ransom.

Barkley was given $100,750 as the first payoff to a hijacker in air history after the captured jetliner landed here on its flight from Phoenix.

But the sandy-haired hijacker sent the plane into the air again and ordered a radio message to President Nixon: "You don't know how to count money."

The gunman, who radioed other messages to the Supreme Court, the White House and government agencies throughout the eight-hour odyssey, came back for more money after changing his demand to 100 potato sacks—each crammed with $100 bills or bigger.

"We decided the people would be in worse danger if the plane took off again. The messages were getting worse and worse," said airport manager Dan Mahaney.

Two men with shotguns riding on a fire truck trailing the jetliner as it rolled to a second stop blew out the tires. Passengers poured out the windows onto the wings. The gunman stuck his head out of the pilots' cabin and shouted, but didn't shoot.

He was armed with a .38, a straight edge razor and a can of gasoline, said Mahaney. However, crew members said the pistol was apparently a .22-caliber.

The passengers dived into the grass or hid behind fire trucks as a pair of FBI agents climbed onto a wing to enter the plane and the gunman opened fire at them.

Barkley, ruddy-faced, his sport coat and gold shirt both open to the waist, was led away with his hands locked behind his back. A few hours later, he volunteered "not guilty" as he was formally charged with air piracy—an offense that can carry the death penalty. His plea was unofficial.

The drama of TWA flight 486 began in the morning skies over New Mexico when the hijacker emerged from a restroom and told pretty brown-haired stewardess Robyn Urrea, 21, who was on her next-to-last flight, that he wanted to see the pilot.

"He pulled out his gun and showed it to me. I said OK and

Lodge Named Chief Envoy to Vatican

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is making Henry Cabot Lodge his personal emissary to the Vatican but without giving him a formal diplomatic title.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Lodge will be going to the Vatican two or three times a year as required and may remain there as long as a month on each occasion.

The question of American diplomatic representation at the Vatican has been a source of recurrent controversy and it seemed apparent that Nixon wants to have the benefits of regular contacts with Pope Paul VI and other church leaders without inviting a Senate battle that might spring from a formal diplomatic nomination.

Lodge, a former Massachusetts senator, was the 1960 Republican candidate for vice president. Later, he served as ambassador to Vietnam and as head of the Vietnam peace negotiators in Paris.

Ziegler described the Lodge's assignment, which he will perform without salary, as providing "greater continuity in the informal contacts which already have been taking place" since the President took office.

A handful of administration officials, including Nixon himself, have met with the Pope since January 1969.

Lodge, who will make his first trip to Rome later this month, will find "suitable living and office arrangements there," Ziegler said. Lodge will not operate out of the U.S. embassy in Rome.

Ziegler was uncertain whether the unofficial envoy would have a permanent staff.

Responding to a question, Ziegler said he would not relate Lodge's role in Paris and the Vatican assignment.

The press secretary said Nixon felt that because of the spiritual and moral leadership exerted by the Pope, it was important for the Vatican and the United States government to regularly exchange views and discuss policy.

Three Charged With Robbing L.R. Bank

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three persons were charged with robbery Thursday night in connection with the 1968 robbery of a Worthen Bank and Trust Co. guard in which $12,000 was stolen.

Authorities said Marion Robert Raif, 41, and Mary Ann Willis, 36, both of Little Rock, were arrested Thursday afternoon in a car on a Little Rock street. Martha Jean Rhodes, 24, was arrested later Thursday at the Police and Courts Building.

Officers said Raif and the Willis woman were being held in lieu of $10,000 bond each and that the Rhodes woman was being held without bond. Police said they obtained warrants for the trio Thursday.

Authorities said no money was recovered.

Hitler's Money Expert Dies at Age 93

MUNICH (AP) — Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who shored up Germany's currency after World War I and later helped pave the way for Adolf Hitler's rise to power, has died at the age of 93.

A family spokesman said Thursday that Schacht broke his hip in a fall last week and died of complications Wednesday.

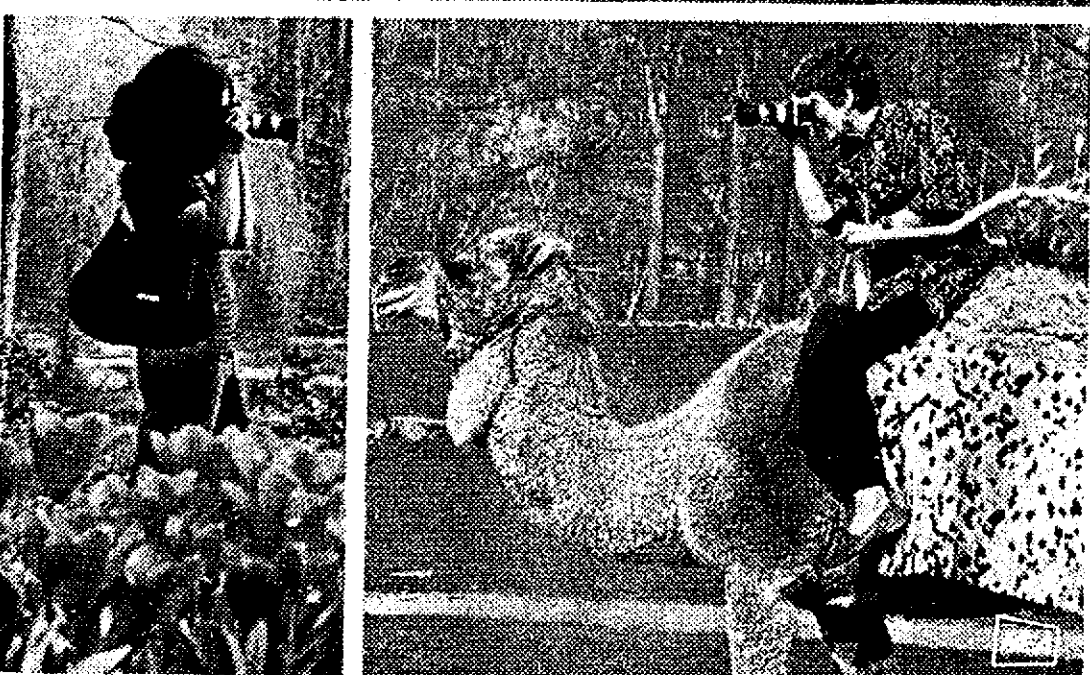

As president of the Reichsbank in 1923, Schacht put the virtually worthless German mark on the gold standard and normalized the nation's money market. He became Hitler's economics minister in 1934, but resigned in 1937 and was acquitted at Nuremberg of war crimes.

He joined Hitler's Cabinet the next year but resigned in 1937 and then fell steadily in Hitler's graces. He was arrested in 1944 and kept in a concentration camp until the war's end.

After his acquittal at Nuremberg, the West German government held him until 1946, and in 1950 he was exonerated under the de-Nazification program.

SHUTTERBUGS IN THE GARDEN. Every garden has its share of bugs along with the rocks, roses and rhododendrons. These shutterbugs, a persistent species found in ever-increasing numbers, were photographed at Sterling Forest Gardens in Tuxedo, N.Y., an area where the flora and fauna are designed to attract the breed. At top is the "Crafty Croucher," noted for its fondness for interesting foreground detail. "Stand-up Shooter," bottom left, was caught by a "Crafty Croucher." "Clutching Climber," bottom right, thrives in elevation although its efforts often produce slanted results. Shutterbugs abound at all seasons, but most varieties are sun worshippers and can be seen glancing frequently over their shoulders to be sure it's still there.

FIGHTING

bodian border areas where U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have been sweeping.

Military sources in Saigon said this indicated the drive into Cambodia had effectively pushed the enemy troops back and cut off the flow of munitions and supplies to enemy units in South Vietnam along that part of the frontier.

Military sources in Phnom Penh reported late Thursday that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who seized Set Bo early in the day had been pushed out. But today the Cambodian Command said heavy fighting was going on in the area.

The command rushed a battalion of paratroopers to the battle, the closest so far to the capital, and Cambodian fighter-bombers flew attack missions in support of the ground troops.

It was not clear who held the village, but the enemy attack had developed into much more than a hit-and-run harassing operation. There was speculation that the Communist Command wanted to secure an area close to Phnom Penh from which to launch rockets into the capital, just as they periodically shell Saigon.

Eighty miles north of Phnom Penh, the battle for Kompong Thom was in its third day. A military spokesman said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces that seized part of the city of 25,000 had renewed their assaults against government strongpoints. He said at least 100 enemy troops had been killed, but the attacking forces still surrounded the town, and some of them had advanced to near the market place in the center.

Cambodian fighter-bombers flew repeated missions in the area, the spokesman said.

Do you feel a bit guilty because you can't spell phnom penh, Kuala Lumpur and Vientiane, and are unable to tell off-hand which countries they are in? Don't you sometimes get so mixed-up that you wish our country didn't have a foreign policy at all—if it does?

Our domestic policy has you a bit puzzled, too, eh? Isn't it hard for you to figure whether, basically, our best goal is to integrate the desegregation or segregate the disintegration?

If you answered yes to all of them, you are as normal as the vast majority of your fellow Americans, muddled but still functioning.

If you answered no to all of them—well, have you ever considered seeking a government job?

Postal Workers on Strike in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — Hundreds of postal workers throughout Canada walked off their jobs today to dramatize demands for higher wages.

About 1,500 workers were on strike in southern Ontario. Charles Maguire, director for Zone 10, said the strike would last at least 24 hours.

He said the walkout was called on orders of national strike headquarters in Ottawa and would continue until further orders.

Postal workers in Windsor have been on strike since May 27.

The workers in all postal areas are members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers and the Letter Carriers Union.

CHURCH

ment unable to pay its bills. Before Nixon's support for the Byrd amendment became known, Church said in an interview it will be "the most critical vote we face."

"It looks very close," the Idaho Democrat said.

Republican sources said support for the Byrd amendment is "in the 40s," while Cooper-Church backers said their strength is "in the 50s."

An earlier amendment to water down the Cooper-Church measure failed 54 to 36, but both sides expect the vote on Byrd's amendment to be closer.

Asked about its effect, Church said "It would largely emasculate the amendment, leaving only those restrictions against sending American personnel" such as advisers and instructors for the Cambodian army.

As it now stands, the Cooper-Church amendment bars funds for retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia after July 1 and puts limits on aid and use of airpower, including providing "persons to engage in any combat activity in support of Cambodian forces."

By limiting the latter restriction to U.S. personnel, the administration would open the way for American financial backing of the Thai volunteers scheduled to be sent to Cambodia in a few weeks.

The Byrd amendment adds language to the Cooper-Church proposal authorizing the President to take "such action as may be necessary to protect the lives of United States forces in South Vietnam or to facilitate the withdrawal of United States forces from South Vietnam."

Why pay up to $259* more for a compact when Maverick gives you all this?

Why pay more when Maverick saves you money right from the start? And however you figure it... size, power, economy... Maverick gives you more in the bargain!

Maverick is no lightweight. Its wide tread and stability makes for a sure grip on the road. Yet there's no excess weight to cause acceleration lag or reduce fuel economy.

Maverick is perky. Some competitive makes have four cylinders. Maverick's got a 170 CID six-cylinder that delivers 105 hp. It gets you up to expressway speeds in less than 15 seconds... without getting you in hock at the gas pumps.

Maverick is economical to drive. Test drivers averaged 22.5 mpg in simulated actual driving conditions. This means you could go up to 350 miles or more between gas stops.

Maverick is simple to park. It's less than 15 feet long and has a turning diameter of only 35.6 feet. So you can nip in and out of tight parking spots and tough traffic, easier than the big guys.

Maverick is simple to maintain. You can do it yourself. The Maverick Owner's Manual is packed with simple diagrams and instructions.

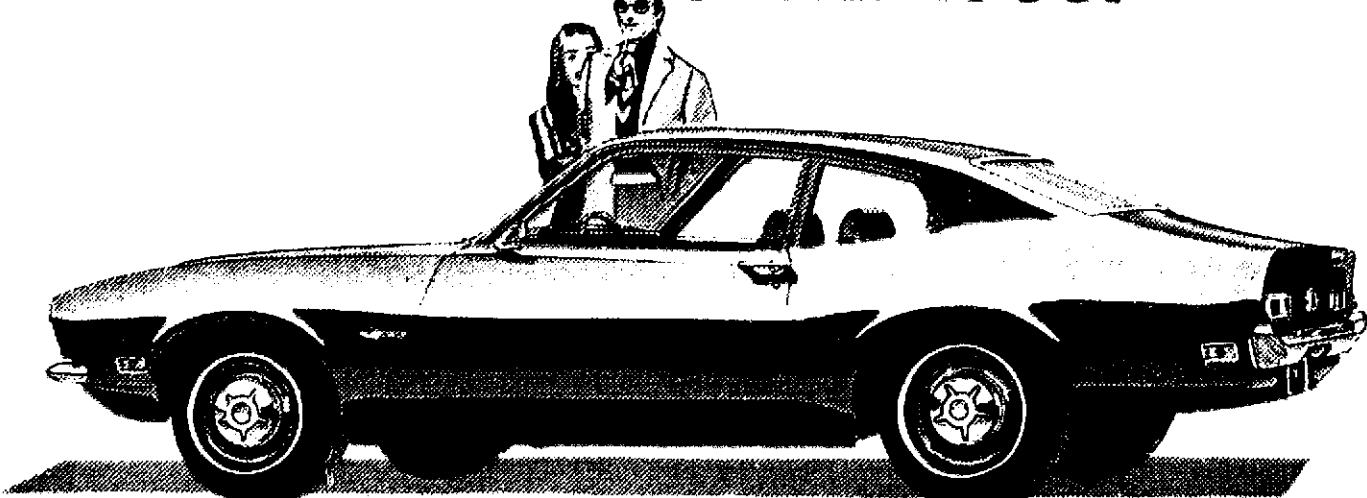

Maverick is easy to own. So easy, in fact, with its low, low price, that you can even move up to a jazzy Maverick Grabber and still beat that compact price.

Maverick is America's biggest selling small car. And that means you can expect top dollar resale value when it comes time to trade. Maverick just doesn't know how to stop saving for you.

MAVERICK

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices including Chevrolet factory price reduction of $160 for a six-cylinder Nova 2-door sedan.

MAVERICK STILL $1995!

*Ford's suggested retail price for the base Maverick model. White sidewall tires are not included, they are $30 extra. Since dealer preparation charges (if any), transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included, nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

A Television-Radio Writer 'NEW YORK (AP) — "Meet the Press" made one of its rare evening appearances on NBC Thursday night—a special one-hour program on the Cambodian controversy. It was split down the middle to let each side air its positions.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, defending the administration position, were questioned first by a panel of newsmen. Then Sens. Frank Church of Iowa and Charles E. Goodell of New York, critics of President Nixon's Indochina policies, were questioned about their positions on congressional approval for enlarging the conflict and their commitment to complete U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

"Meet the Press" is in its 23rd year of broadcasting, and no one has evolved a better way of handling a news interview. The uncluttered format of lining up three or four well-prepared newsmen to ask the tough questions—and press for answers—can not, from the viewer's standpoint, be improved upon.

Thursday's program gave viewers a chance to hear and weigh conflicting opinions. It is much more satisfying than a formal debate with the time element and rebuttals assuming an importance beyond the subject matter. And it is much better than those tangles when tempers flare and everybody talks at one time.

For some seasons NBC has appeared to treat the venerable program like a stepchild, scheduling it early on Sunday afternoons when few adults are settled down for TV-watching. CBS has treated "Face the Nation" no better, and it operates along the same enlightening lines.

In the Thursday night hour, the two representatives of the administration appeared somewhat constrained and limited to repeating what President Nixon stated the night before. Church and Goodell, while saying nothing new, obviously could be wider ranging in their expressions. CBS plans an hour special tonight with the Indochina policy debated by six senators—three on each side.

The show business publication, Variety, has printed a list of 176 special programs shown by the networks between September and April, arranging them in the descending order of their Nielsen ratings.

Of the top 10, six starred Bob Hope. His Christmas program was the most popular show of the year, followed by the Oscar awards program. Other non-Hope programs in the elite group were the Miss America pageant, "Charlie Brown's Christmas" and the feature film "Born Free."

Bringing up the rear were a folk gospel music show and a treatment of "ethics in government."

Dillard, Dana Flowers, Mrs. Tom Waters, Mrs. Greer Bell, and Mrs. Don Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Sam Strong, Jr. went to the U of A last Saturday for graduation exercises, where their son, Samuel Meeks Strong, received a BA degree in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bearden attended Ouachita Baptist University graduation May 30, where their daughter, Lynda, was graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor of science degree in education.

Primitive camping was enjoyed at Girl Scout Camp High Point near Mena, Sunday-Wednesday, by members of Cadette Troop 75 and leaders, Mrs. Earl Whitaker, Mrs. Gail Snyard, and Mrs. Gene Pendergraft. Making the trip were: Sue Pendergraft, Mara Middlebrooks, Janet McCain, Anita McCauley, Mona Rowe, Donna Cox, Shirley Snyard, Cindy Whitaker, Mary Sue Stone, Mary Overturn, Patsy Burch, Naida Patton, Bonnie Roy, and Patty House. Also camping out were Angela Whitaker, Steve Whitaker, and Sydnee Snyard; Mrs. J. W. Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. John Cox also lent able assistance.

ARE "LIB KIDS" TO LIPPY?

Dear Helen: I'm tired of all this lip from the "lib kids". Women don't climb to high positions, because they aren't mentally equipped. Their goal in life is getting men to take care of them—mainly so they can complain later about being misused.

If women really had the brains the feminists attribute to them, they'd rise to the top in "female" professions. Yet the leading chefs, interior decorators, hair stylists, fashion designers are men (sort of).

Women shouldn't compete with men because most of them aren't smart enough for anything more than bridge and exchanging recipes.—MR. M.S.F.

Dear F.: Tell me, do your initials stand for "Male Supremacy Freak?"—H.

Dear Helen: When women say they believe in liberation but aren't for "total equality," they don't understand the movement. Women's Lib (and I'm not a member) urges the reward of talent, where able people, male or female, are given their just due.

Do the "limited equality" dames wish to reserve the privilege of a seat on a crowded bus or an opened door? If so, how many men nowadays are so well trained? Courtesy should be based on respect for another because he/she is a human being. A tired laborer should no more have to relinquish his seat than a tired lady shopper. A man with his hands full of packages should have a door held for him by a free-handed individual, regardless of sex. In this area, I'd like to complain about the rudeness of many women who take men's courtesies for granted. How many of us bother to say

As long as you're not for total equality, Helen, how do you feel as a writer about being limited to the second class status of the women's section? Don't you wish you could just once get your teeth into a really important issue covered on the front page?—NANCY

Dear Nancy: . . . Not if it means being a war correspondent in Vietnam. That's the kind of total equality I wouldn't relish.—H.

Dear Helen: I would like to add a few comments to those of "Quiet Feminist" who approves much of the liberation movement but won't fight for it. Feminists are not all radicals, screaming for a separate state. We don't expect sympathizers to go out and hit every man with a brick. What we ask is that you re-examine your lives and find where you are stifled—in your careers, in your marriages, or both. Then work to change things.

Women's lib groups are fighting for practical measures such as abortion reforms, equal pay for equal work, day care centers for working mothers, better career opportunities. However, not enough working people realize our biggest problem comes from within ourselves, men and women alike.

We New Women are seeking to change the antiquated role of the female. Too many girls have been fooled into the role of the frail, helpless "dumb broad" type. They are so secure in their roles they are the first to condemn women who are independent. Society forces these roles on us, so much so that from the day we are born we are "groomed" (like a prize cow) for the ultimate goal: Finding a husband and becoming a baby factory.

Please, all you gals out there:

Sherry Has What Hawks Demands

By DICK KLEINER

TUCSON, Ariz.—(CNEA)—When Sherry Lansing was going to Northwestern, majoring in dramatic arts, the class studied motion picture directors. They were taught that Howard Hawks had one type of girl he liked—tall, thin, dark-haired, long-legged girls with husky voices.

Fade-out. Fade-in some years later. Hawks saw a girl on a television commercial—tall, thin, dark-haired, long-legged. He sent for her, and Sherry Lansing came by.

Only problem was her voice. She didn't have a husky voice. She had a high, almost little-girl's voice.

"He told me to practice screaming," Sherry says. "He said that screaming lowers the voice. So I went to Griffith Park every morning—at 6—and screamed. Where can you go to scream these days? Even in the park, the police would rush up and I'd have to explain, and it was embarrassing."

But she's got the huskiness now that Hawks likes, and so she is in line to become another of Hawks' tall, thin, dark-haired, long-legged, husky-voiced discoveries. Lauren Bacall is the prototype of the Hawks Girl. Sherry Lansing is next in line, together with another girl in the same picture, Jennifer O'Neill.

The picture is "Rio Lobo," and it is Sherry Lansing's first. There may be a bit of a problem later, when the company goes back to Hollywood to film some interiors. Hawks wants her to do a nude scene.

"He had done this nude scene in 'El Dorado,'" she says. "and liked it, but somebody higher up cut it, as I understand it. So he wanted it duplicated exactly and put in 'Rio Lobo.'"

"But I'm going to wear a little something which the wardrobe department designed for me. I don't think I'd be able to act at all with no clothes on. And, besides, modesty forbids."

For Jorge Rivero, he is learning what it means to travel first class. Rivero, one of Mexico's biggest stars, is doing his first American movie in "Rio Lobo," and with his dashing good looks he could make it.

He has an advantage over most Latin stars—he speaks almost perfect English, the result of spending a few childhood years in Boston. So he isn't limited to playing Mexican bandits or Latin lovers.

In Mexico, Rivero says, the biggest picture costs around two million pesos—about $160,000—and Rivero always works in the biggest pictures. In fact, he gets his salary "free"—after taxes—so he's bigger than the biggest.

"But, compared to this," he says, "it is nothing. I am learning what first-class means."

Another member of the "Rio Lobo" cast is George Plimpton. His part is limited to one line—"This here's your warrant, mister"—which is about all he wants. Plimpton really isn't an actor. He's a writer, specializing in books about how he does impossible things like playing football, and in this he's doing a TV special about being an actor.

After he says his line, he is shot. Plimpton says Jack Elam is coaching him in the art of dying for the camera.

"The important thing, according to Elam," says Plimpton, "is to pick a soft spot to fall."

Florida Flooded by Downpour

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A ruptured reservoir and flood waters from six days of rain drove more than 500 persons to emergency shelters and closed major highways in Florida's Panhandle Wednesday night.

No injuries were reported. At Pensacola, police evacuated 400 persons as up to seven feet of water slammed into their homes after the wall of a city reservoir burst in two places. Electricity was knocked out in some sections, including one hospital.

The Weather Bureau forecast scattered showers again today for the Pensacola area, already soaked by more than 13 inches of rain since Friday—seven inches of it Wednesday.

Murder Charge Is Filed

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—A charge of first-degree murder was filed Wednesday against Moses Smith, 21, of near Arkadelphia, in connection with the fatal shooting last Thursday of Fred Donaghey, 69, of Curtis (Clark County).

Authorities said Donaghey had been shot once in the head with a small-caliber pistol.

RIGHT OF WAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The pilot of the paddlewheel steamer, "Belle of Louisville," Harris Underwood, says there always has been debate over who has the right-of-way on a river—a drawbridge or a steamboat.

Underwood says, "The drawbridge has—he can stay there."

CHARGES REDUCED

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Almost half the motorists arrested by state police last year for drunk driving were able to get the charges dismissed or reduced in court, a Public Safety Department report shows.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can "Bracken's World" keep up with the fast-moving world of Hollywood? Producer Stanley Rubin thinks so, and he's making changes in the television series accordingly.

"Bracken's World" had a rocky start in its first season on NBC. Some critics scoffed that its portrayal of life inside a major studio was both soap-operatic and anachronistic. Eleanor Parker, the series' principal star, walked out in midseason with the claim that she had little to do.

Ratings were disappointing. The audience seemed confused by the immense cast—11 regulars in all. But as the performers became more familiar, the ratings began to rise. Although "Bracken's World" remained far from a hit, NBC was enough encouraged to renew the 20th Century-Fox production for the 1970-71 season.

The series, some say, portrays studios as they used to be—big, busy, aswarm with actors. Since it began, Hollywood has fallen on hard times. Production is a trickle, studio contract lists all but nil. Independent turn out much of the product.

The biggest change in the series will be to bring studio boss John Bracken, onstage—in the first season he was merely a shadowy figure whose decisions were delivered like messages from Mt. Olympus. Bracken will be portrayed by Leslie Nielsen.

"The way we see him," said Rubin, "is not as a Harry Cohn, a Jack Warner, a Louis B. Mayer or any of the old-time studio bosses. He is a man who has grown up in the movie business, is now in his mid-40s, and has been a film maker himself, in charge of European production."

"He has gone to college and is cosmopolitan in his outlook. He is the new breed of studio head, like a John Calley (Warners), a Richard Zanuck (Fox), or a Bob Evans (Paramount)."

Home Runs Downfall of Orioles

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles, who usually live by the home run, died by it again Thursday night but the New York Yankees, hitless for eight innings against Kansas City's Jim Rooker, were more than happy to be brought back from the dead by a single and double.

Frank Fernandez, an ex-Yankee, and Sal Bando homered for the second straight game as the Oakland A's made it two in a row over Baltimore 4-2.

The Yankees, meanwhile, were three outs away from being embarrassed by Rooker, a left-hander who never pitched for them but was chosen off their roster in the 1968 expansion draft. But Horace Clarke singled, Bobby Murcer doubled him home and Clarke's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the 12th inning sent Rooker down to a heart-breaking 2-1 defeat.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston downed Minnesota 5-1, Detroit beat California 4-2, the Chicago White Sox trimmed Washington 7-3 and Cleveland slugged Milwaukee 8-4.

In the only National League game, Atlanta turned back the New York Mets 3-1, Los Angeles whipped Pittsburgh 5-0 and Houston blanked Montreal 8-0.

Oakland started long-balling in the fifth inning after Don Mincher singled home the tying run against Tom Phoebus. Fernandez then slammed his fifth home run of the season for a 3-1 lead and Bando tacked on an insurance run in the seventh off Jim Hardin with homer No. 10.

Mudcat Grant protected Catfish Hunter's eighth triumph by getting Brooks Robinson to hit into an inning-ending double play with the bases loaded in the eighth after Merv Rettenmund singled a run home.

"They beat us at our own game - hitting home runs," said Earl Weaver, manager of the Orioles, who have lost four of their last five games but still hold a 5½-game lead over the Yankees in the AL East. "That's the way we usually beat people, but that's the way the Mets beat us in the World Series."

Rooker seemed in complete command of the Yankees as he went to the mound for the ninth inning. But Clarke drilled his first pitch, a high fast ball, on a line to left field and Murcer, after fouling off two bunt attempts, socked a game-tying double to right center.

The Yanks loaded the bases against Rooker with one out in the 12th on singles by Ron Woods and Gene Michael and a walk to Pete Ward. Moe Drabowsky relieved, but Clarke laced his second pitch to deep center and pinch runner Jerry Kenney raced home with the winning run.

Mike Andrews and Billy Conigliaro continued their hot hitting as the Red Sox breezed by the Twins behind Sonny Siebert's five-hit pitching. Andrews, who has 10 hits in his last 14 at-bats, hit a two-run homer in the sixth, kayoing Jim Kaat, and Conigliaro, a last-minute replacement for big brother Tony, hit his fourth off reliever Bill Zepp.

The Angels again failed to gain on Minnesota and remained two games out in the AL West by losing to the Tigers. Al Kaline's two-run double with two out in the eighth following singles by Dick McAuliffe and Cesar Gutierrez provided the winning margin. Kaline also had an RBI single earlier.

Walt Williams' home run on the first pitch of the game touched off a four-run White Sox uprising against Washington's Dick Bosman. An error, singles by Carlos May and Bill Milton, an infield out and Bobby Knepps' double accounted for the other three runs in the inning and Milton homered in the eighth.

Ray Fosse drove in four runs with a single, double and three-run homer as the Indians won their fifth in a row and ruined the major league debut of Milwaukee starter Ray Peters. Ted Savage homered for the Brewers.

Baseball Drafts Ends on Friday

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's free agent draft, a process that divides the nation's schoolboys and collegians among the 24 big league clubs and their farms, will conclude Friday with over 1,000 in the fold.

The annual summer draft (they call the mid-term class in January) opened Thursday. After 27 rounds, a total of 649 had been selected.

After the players are drafted they must be signed and the clubs already have been warned by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn that "real honest-to-God negotiations must be undertaken within 15 days after the young men are eligible."

The draft only gives the club the exclusive bargaining right to the athlete. If he does not sign now, he goes back into the pool for later selection, depending on his eligibility at the time.

Many of the draftees already have graduated from high school and are eligible for immediate signing. It is the same story for college grads (unless their school still has some games on its schedule) and anybody who has passed his 21st birthday and not signed. Steve Dunning, Cleveland's top draft from Stanford University, said Thursday he expected to sign immediately.

Sons of such former major leaguers as Roy Sievers (Robin, drafted by a St. Louis farm) and Hank Greenberg (Steven of Yale) drafted by a Washington farm were among those chosen on the first day.

After the regular draft of newly-eligible players is completed, the clubs move into the special phase of those who were picked previously but did not sign.

The shortage of catching talent was mirrored in the first round draft by the major league teams in which three of the first four and four of the first nine were catchers.

The catchers were (1) Michael Ivie of Decatur, Ga. by San Diego, (3) Barry Foote of Smithfield, N.C. by Montreal (4) Darrell Foster of Oklahoma City by Milwaukee and (8) Rex Goodson of Longview, Tex. by Kansas City. According to the scouts who watched them in high school, each has the potential of a Johnny Bench.

The top pitchers drafted were (2) Dunning of Stanford and San Diego, Calif., by Cleveland (5) Jim Martin of Columbia, S.C. (13-0, 0.0 earned run record and 224 strikeouts in 83 innings) by Philadelphia (7) Randy Scarberry of Fresno, Calif., by Houston and (9) James Haller of Omaha, Neb. by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lee Richard, a shortstop from Southern University and Port Arthur, Tex., drafted by the Chicago White Sox, was the only non-batterman among the first nine.

David Eisenhower, son-in-law of President Nixon and grandson of the late President Eisenhower, participated in the draft in his position as a public relations department employee of the Washington Senators. Using the Senators' scouting reports, David picked in the third round

Players Have Good and Bad Streaks

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

The last three weeks have been happy ones for Claude Osteen, something less than hilarious for Tom Seaver and an absolute nightmare for Steve Blass.

The three veteran hurlers worked Thursday night and each kept their streaks alive.

Osteen, the stylish Los Angeles southpaw, copping his fifth consecutive triumph, a 5-0 masterpiece over Pittsburgh and Pirates starter Blass, who was losing his eighth game in a row. Meanwhile, Seaver, the 1969 Cy Young Award winner, dropped his fourth straight, 3-1 to Atlanta.

In the only other National League game scheduled, Houston romped over Montreal 8-0, sending the skidding Expos to their 11th consecutive loss.

In the American League, Boston topped Minnesota 5-1, Cleveland belted Milwaukee 8-4, Chicago stopped Washington 7-3, New York edged Kansas City 2-1 in 11 innings, Oakland whipped Baltimore 4-2 and Detroit beat California 4-2.

Osteen, 8-4, tossed only 98 pitches and didn't go to a three-ball count during the entire game in limiting the hard-hitting Pirates to six hits.

"It's a lot of fun when you pitch like that," Osteen said after winning his eighth decision in nine starts and lowering his earned run average to 2.48. "I really enjoyed it. They were hitting grounders and that keeps my teammates awake and everybody sharp."

Osteen, who was 20-15 last year, started his streak on May 17 with a four-hit shutout over the San Francisco Giants. He has beaten Atlanta, San Francisco, St. Louis and now the Pirates in his string.

"The difference now is that we're scoring runs," Osteen said. In his first three losses the Dodgers didn't score a run for him in 23 innings.

Thursday night Osteen got all the support he needed from Wes Parker, who drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly.

Danny Murtaugh, the pirates' skipper didn't think Blass pitched poorly saying, "It felt like we were never in the game the way Osteen was pitching. It didn't make much difference what we did."

Blass, a 16-10 hurler last season, sank to 2-8 and hasn't tasted victory since April 22—seven weeks—when the right-hander beat Houston 6-1 on a three hit-ter.

The Dodgers reached the 28-year-old fast-baller for only four hits in his five innings but he walked four and his ERA skyed to 4.55.

Seaver, the 25-7 glamor boy of the Mets, rolled to six straight victories this season—16 over two seasons—before dropping a 2-0 decision to Montreal. He then beat Philadelphia on a one-hitter on May 15 but hasn't won since.

In the four losses, Seaver has only been supported by two runs and only gave the Braves five hits and all three runs while running his NL strikeout lead to 118, fanning four Atlanta hitters.

"It's not fun to go home and know you've lost four games in a row," said Seaver, now 7-5, with a fine 2.31 era.

Seaver was reached for a run-scoring single by Orlando Cepeda, another tally came in on a passed ball and Rico Carty, the major leagues' top hitter at .435, slugged his 15th homer of the season.

The Astros rode the six-hit pitching of Tom Griffin, who was backed by Doug Rader's first-inning grand slam homer and a two-run shot by Joe Pepitone in the eighth. It was No. 11 for each this season.

Rader's home run matched hit total output for 1969. Griffin stymied the Expos on six hits in winning only his second game this year after six losses.

only to find another club (San Diego) already had taken the same man. He quickly shifted gears and drafted somebody else.

Before the draft, commissioner Kuhn had advised the clubs they must proceed with meaningful negotiations and also warned them against tampering with or even contacting players drafted by another club.

Figures Curt Flood Worth $125,000

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If Curt Flood had been freed to negotiate for himself after he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals, it is very possible that he might be in the Kansas City outfield today playing for the Royals at a salary in excess of $125,000 a year.

The man who would have paid Flood that much is Ewing Kauffman multi-millionaire owner of the Royals dedicated to bringing Kansas City a pennant no matter how high the cost—including the $4 million he offered Oakland in two trade proposals.

Kauffman, who in 1950 began a pharmaceutical firm in his basement stirred the courtroom of Judge Irving Ben Cooper as he testified Thursday in the suit brought by Flood that challenges the legality of baseball's reserve system.

First he caused a ripple of excitement among the spectators by estimating that if he could have negotiated with Flood, he would have paid him in the $100,000 to $125,000 range for one year and might have increased that figure on a long-term contract.

Second, he sent a ripple through the court room revealing that he had made two million-dollar proposals in the last two years to purchase players from the Athletics, presumably including such stars as Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando and Rick Monday.

Kauffman, called as a defense witness for baseball, made his statements about what he would pay Flood under cross-examination by attorney Jay Topkis. It was considered significant in light of Flood's contention that baseball operates in restraint of trade through the reserve system.

Questioning along those lines, according to Topkis in remarks made to Judge Cooper, also was a "way to prove damages" in the $3 million anti-trust suit brought by Flood after he was traded by St. Louis to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Kauffman's estimate of what he would pay Flood if he could negotiate with the outfielder was significantly higher than the $90,000 Flood was paid by the Cardinals in 1969, or the package of "a little more" than $90,000 plus $8,000 expenses offered by the Phillies for 1970.

Kauffman, however, was and is barred from negotiating with Flood by baseball's reserve clause, which ties a player to the club that originally signed him until he is either traded, sold or released. Flood became

Gilbert Is Reaching for 'the Stars'

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Gibby Gilbert, easily the biggest surprise on the pro golf tour this year, says he's "reaching for the stars," while veteran Lionel Hebert says he's ready to make a comeback.

The two longshots barged into the first-round lead in the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament Thursday, matching 66s on the rain-drenched 7,231 yards, par 72 Quail Hollow Country Club Course.

Hebert, a portly, 42-year-old who scored the last of his five victories in 1966, said he is "playing a lot better now."

"I had some problems the last couple of years, but about four months ago I got those solved and now I have no excuses. I think I'm ready for a good summer. I'm ready to make a comeback."

Hebert, a drawing native of the Louisiana Cajun country, won the PGA National Championship in 1957 but has been bothered by tendonitis in both arms for the last two years. He said it no longer troubles him.

The 29-year-old Gilbert, a former club pro, played the tour during the summer for the last couple of years, broke into the top 20 only once and decided to abandon it last fall.

He started his first full year on the tour at Doral in Florida in February, finished seventh, startled the golfing world with a playoff victory in the Houston Champions International and has picked up almost $34,000 in winnings this season.

Hebert and Gilbert hold only a one-stroke lead over Lou Graham, alone at 67. Former Masters champion Art Wall, Tom Weiskopf, Mike Hill and Bob Lunn follow at 68.

Philadelphia property when he was traded.

At that time, Flood asked Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for permission to negotiate for himself as a free agent with any club in baseball. Kuhn said he could not give such permission, and Flood instituted suit.

No less interesting than Kauffman's estimate of Flood's value on the open market was his revelation under direct examination of the two deals he had offered A's owner Charles O. Finley for unspecified players.

Kauffman said he made the first proposal before the 1969 season, offering $1 million to pick any one player from the Oakland roster. The second proposal was made prior to the current season, Kauffman offering $3 million for his pick of four players off the Oakland roster.

Kauffman, however, under direct examination did specify that he thought it would be detrimental to baseball—although beneficial to Kansas City—if he could go into a completely open market and bid for players.

He said while he was prepared to do so, other teams were not, and it would therefore be "bad for baseball" because a few teams would wind up with the best player.

Asked why he was willing to spend the money while others weren't Kauffman replied: "They don't have it."

Kauffman, however, does and is willing to spend it in his efforts to bring the Royals a pennant. He testified that he had paid $6 million for the expansion club and estimated he had put another $3.5 million in during the last two years.

He also made a key point for the defense by saying he would not have made his original investment in the Royals without the reserve system and baseball's immunity to federal anti-trust laws.

Personality Takes on 8th Assignment

By ED SCHUYLER RR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Edith D. Jacobs' Personality takes on his eighth assignment in 10 weeks and Raymond M. Curtis' My Dad George gets a chance at a dubious precedent Saturday in the 102nd running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes.

Personality, who made up somewhat for his eighth-place finish in the Kentucky Derby by winning the Preakness, will be trying for his fourth big stakes victory in his last five starts.

A second-place finish for My Dad George would make him the first to finish second in all three Triple Crown races. Arts and Letters was runnerup to Majestic Prince in the Derby and Preakness last year but he missed setting the precedent—happily for owner Paul Mellon and trainer Elliott Burch—by winning the Belmont.

Seven 3-year-olds were expected to go against Personality and My Dad George in the Belmont—Mrs. Jacobs' High Echeleon, Dansar Stable's Delaware Chief, El Peco Ranch's Aggressively, Thomas Fleming's Needles N Pens, Brookmeade Stable's Climber, Briardale Farm's Stop Time and Lawrence Boce's Hark The Lark.

Missing from the final jewel of the Triple Crown is Kentucky Derby winner Dust Commander who came up with a sore ankle after finishing ninth in the Preakness.

If nine start in the 1½-mile Belmont, the gross purse will be $157,250, with $113,500 to the winner.

Post time is approximately 5:30 p.m., EDT, with television coverage by CBS from 5-6 p.m. Told of his chance to set a racing first, Bud McManus, trainer of My Dad George, said: "I'm not thinking of second! The hell with second. I want first."

The Belmont will be My Dad George's first start since the Preakness May 16.

On the other hand, Personality made his last start just six days ago when he was an impressive winner of the Jersey Derby.

A probable field of eight, including Quicken Tree and Baffle, will be racing in the $50,000-added Inglewood Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday. Quicken Tree, with Fernando Alvarez up, won the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap and Baffle, with Jerry Lambert in the saddle, recently won the $112,800 Californian. The race for 3-year-olds and up is 1 and ½ miles.

A field of seven, headed by War Censor, Jungle Cove and Dinner Gong, will be on tap for the $35,000-added Custer Memorial Stakes for 3-year-olds and up at Suffolk Downs.

Pattee Canyon, Stay Out Front and Foggy Note head a possible field of 12 in Arlington Park's $25,000-added Twilight Tear Handicap, a one-mile effort on grass for fillies and mares.

Soccer Matches Boost Sales of Tea in Britain

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The World Cup soccer matches here are boosting tea sales in Britain, raising electricity bills in Spain and starting husband-and-wife arguments in West Germany, even if they aren't attracting much notice in the United States.

There was no action Thursday or today in the four groups from which eight teams will be selected for the quarter-finals after round-robin competition.

The next big game is Sunday when England, the defending champion, duels powerful Brazil. There are four games on tap Saturday and another four Sunday.

Saturday's schedule: Russia vs. Belgium, Uruguay vs. Italy, Rumania vs. Czechoslovakia and Peru vs. Morocco. In addition to the English-Brazilian match Sunday, Mexico plays El Salvador, Israel opposes Sweden and Bulgaria battles West Germany.

From Manchester to Munich, from Milan to Madrid, millions of Europeans are sitting up for hours after their normal bedtime to watch the soccer series on television.

"By the time the championships are over (June 21), half the continent will be stumbling to work in a stupor, bleary-eyed from their television sets," complained a British bank manager Thursday—stifling a yawn from watching Brazil play Czechoslovakia until one o'clock in the morning.

In Western Europe the games are telecast live from Mexico. In the Soviet Union, the games are shown later on tape—but even in Russia the radio broadcasts World Cup scores 24 hours a day.

British shopkeepers report that with the games only five days old, housewives already have started to buy more tea and other drinks for the late-night television watching.

Electricity authorities in Madrid say that with television sets running until late into the night, the demand for power has soared. In Britain electricity consumed in one night increased by 2 million kilowatt hours.

A public opinion poll in West Germany revealed that one wife in four was complaining to her husband about staying up late to watch the Mexican soccer. Noting the German poll of 1,457 married men, a London newspaper worried: "What is the World Cup doing to family life?"

30 ALLERGIES
PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) Anthony van Rensburg, 7, may not have all the allergies going, but he has 30 known ones. Doctors say he must avoid eggs, milk, grass, wool, flowers, bristles, moss, cereals, cats, rabbits, dogs and an assortment of high protein foods. He can have fruit and candy, however, and his parents are hopeful that he is growing out of at least a few of his allergies.

Graham Gets Some Top Pro Prospects

CHICAGO (AP) — All-Star Coach Otto Graham had a 54-player squad, heavily bolstered by top pro draftees, lined up today for the July 31 tangle with the pro champion Kansas City Chiefs in the 37th All-Star Football Game at Soldier Field.

Graham announced a unit including quarterbacks Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech; Purdue's Mike Phipps, and San Diego State's Dennis Shaw, and all except one of the 26 first-round choices in the 1970 pro draft.

Headed by No. 1 pick Bradshaw (Pittsburgh Steelers); No. 2 Mike McCoy (Green Bay Packers); and No. 3 Phipps (Cleveland Browns), Graham's squad is missing only tight end Rich McGeorge of Elon College from the top round selections last January.

McMahon to Be Coach of Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jack McMahon, veteran pro coach who was fired by the San Diego Rockets halfway through the 1969 season, will soon be named head coach of the Pittsburgh Pipers, it was learned Thursday.

The American Basketball Association club has scheduled a press conference for Wednesday.

McMahon, 40, has eight years of coaching experience in the National Basketball Association. He coached the Cincinnati Royals for four years, the now defunct Chicago Zephyrs for a year, and spent the rest of the time with San Diego.

Learn To Hit to All Fields

By AL KALINE

Written for AP Newsfeatures

One of the most important things in hitting is the selection of the right kind of bat. It should be a bat that a youngster can handle and not one that is used just because it bears the name of a great player.

Try to get a bat that you can swing normally. By that I mean a bat that doesn't swing you. The correct stance at the plate is the one that feels comfortable to the hitter.

Don't try to copy the stance of a great ball player. His reflexes are altogether different because he has had the necessary playing experience. His eyes may be sharper than yours and his hands may be quicker.

Bonallack, Hyndman in Quarterfinals

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEWCASTLE, Northern Ireland (AP) — Bill Hyndman set out in the quarter-finals of the 1970 British Amateur golf championship today on the theory that he can win if he just manages that eleventh hole.

"If I can just get up that hill a few more times, I'm in," the 54-year old Philadelphia insurance broker said.

The veteran reached the round of eight survivors in this marathon match play the hard way. He had one 19-hole triumph one on the 20th and one on the 21st.

The principle bar to the title he nearly has won twice is the man who keeps winning it, 35-year-old Michael Bonallack of England.

These two are highly probably the finalists again this year as they were in 1969 when Bonallack beat Hyndman at Hoylake 3 and 2.

Bonallack has had a much easier trip to the quarter-final than Hyndman, the last American left in the field.

Yet Hyndman has played consistent par golf all the way and is so toned up that he rates not only as a co-favorite but almost has an edge on the Englishman who was in search of his third straight gold medal.

"Where I feel it is that miserable 11th hole," Hyndman said with a wide grin.

That hole is 441 yards long but the point is the green is on top of a hill of some proportion and the climb up to it contains reminders for the calves of legs no longer young.

The 18-hole quarter final will be followed by 18-hole semifinals in the round of four this afternoon and Saturday's final will be over 36 holes.

hit the ball hard anyplace. Hit it hard to all parts of the field. If you do that the fielders in the outfield can't play you in one set spot.

Stallings Has Praise for His Freshmen

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Texas A&M coach Gene Stallings knows the surest way to get burned is to heap praise on a freshman football phenom.

He knows this 'cause it was taught him by his old coach Paul "Bear" Bryant from whom Stallings learned the X's and O's of Saturday afternoon plastic poppin'.

But excuse him, please, if he does a little button busting over young quarterback Lex James 'of Houston.

"I hate to say too much about a kid who has never been in the arena before," Stallings starts out, "but I think he has a chance to be a good one."

Stallings says "He's got a good mind...good quickness...and in spring practice turned a lot of bad plays into good ones. Now, that makes a lot of difference. He's a pretty good passer, a pretty good runner, and a pretty good thinker. I'm real pleased with him."

It's easy to see how James has captured Stallings. His wit is almost as quick as his feet. At the recent Texas A&M News Media Golf Tournament, James was toting a bag—all the players are caddies for the affair—down the ninth fairway when he was asked if he felt his inexperience would be a big drawback this season.

"Well, sir, I don't figure we'll be inexperienced after our inter-sectional games," Lex said.

James was referring to the rugged non-conference schedule in which the Aggies meeting Wichita State, Louisiana State, Ohio State and Michigan before they fire a shot in the Southwest Conference.

Stallings says the Aggies were hurt last year by inconsistency at quarterback. He believes James is the answer and that's why he has installed the triple-option, Wishbone-T on a fulltime basis.

"We ran the three-way option when we had Edd Hargett and I think Lex can handle it," Stallings says.

Football coaches aren't supposed to be oozing optimism in June but Stallings says, "Realistically, I think we'll have a pretty good football team. You've got to say what you feel."

The last time Stallings was that optimistic the Aggies went on to win the SWC championship and the Cotton Bowl. He realizes that.

"I think Texas and Arkansas will have to fight for their lives every Saturday," Stallings says. "And I'll take what we have."

Opening lead—♥ 10

If you have been getting the impression from these articles that the negative double of one spade is the greatest invention since the wheel, take a look at today's hand.

West's spade overall was somewhat on the sleazy side. If North had passed, East and West might have found their way to a successful three no-trump, an unsuccessful four spades or a part score. We'll never know because North did double. East might have redoubled to show some spades and good general strength, but he decided to jump to three spades.

This put it squarely up to South. He had a round opening bid with four hearts in addition to his five-card suit. He wouldn't have bid more than two hearts if he hadn't been jammed, but he wasn't going to be shut out. He bid four hearts.

West passed and East made one of those "money from home" doubles. It looked too good to be true.

West opened the 10 of hearts. He knew his partner could stand a trump lead. South struggled manfully but the best he could do was to take six tricks for a nice 1,100-point loss.

The chief blame for the tragedy rests on North's shoulders. He had four hearts but his hand was far too weak for a negative double. In addition his main strength was in the opponent's suit, not his own. You should have at least seven high-card points for a negative double and with a minimum seven or eight you should have all or nearly all of those points in your suits, not the enemy's.

South gets some blame. He didn't have to bid four hearts and East has to get some credit for his inspired three-spade bid that gave South the opportunity to take the disastrous plunge.

What do you do now?
A—Just bid six hearts. Even though your partner is trying for seven you should show your two kings and leave it up to him.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of opening one spade your partner has opened one club. What do you respond?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The World Almanac recalls that Richard Henry Lee proposed a declaration of American independence, June 7, 1776, when he introduced in the Continental Congress a resolution declaring "that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved."

Avoid Infection Spread By Burning Dressings

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is staphylococcus? How is it picked up? What precautions may be taken to prevent its spread?

A—Staphylococcus is the name of the common pus-forming germ. It is often present on the skin and in the nose and does no harm until it enters the body through a break in the skin or mucous membrane. When you have a boil or an infected cut or bruise, it is important to burn the dressings and not to get the pus on your fingers because that is the quickest way to spread the infection to others or to another part of your body. It helps to wash your hands with a soap that contains hexachlorophene, especially after touching a soiled dressing.

Q—What is a whitlow or a felon and what is suppurative?

A—Whitlow and felon are the same thing—a pus infection of the bone, nail or pulp of the end of a finger. Suppuration is the formation of pus.

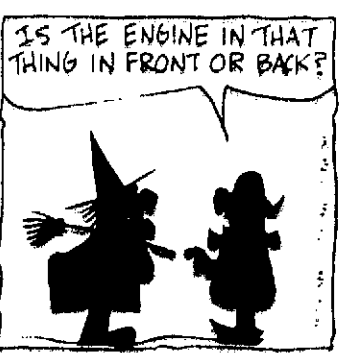

Q—What causes carbuncles? What can be done to prevent them?

A—A carbuncle is a glorified boil—one so large that it has more than one point of drainage. It is caused by a pus-forming germ, usually the staphylococcus. The precipitating cause is often the squeezing of a pimple, blackhead, wen or boil. Prevention is accomplished through cleanliness and prompt antiseptic treatment of all small cuts or skin infections.

Q—What is the best treatment for boils? My son, who is a mechanic, has five of them. He uses a soap prescribed by his doctor but so far it hasn't helped.

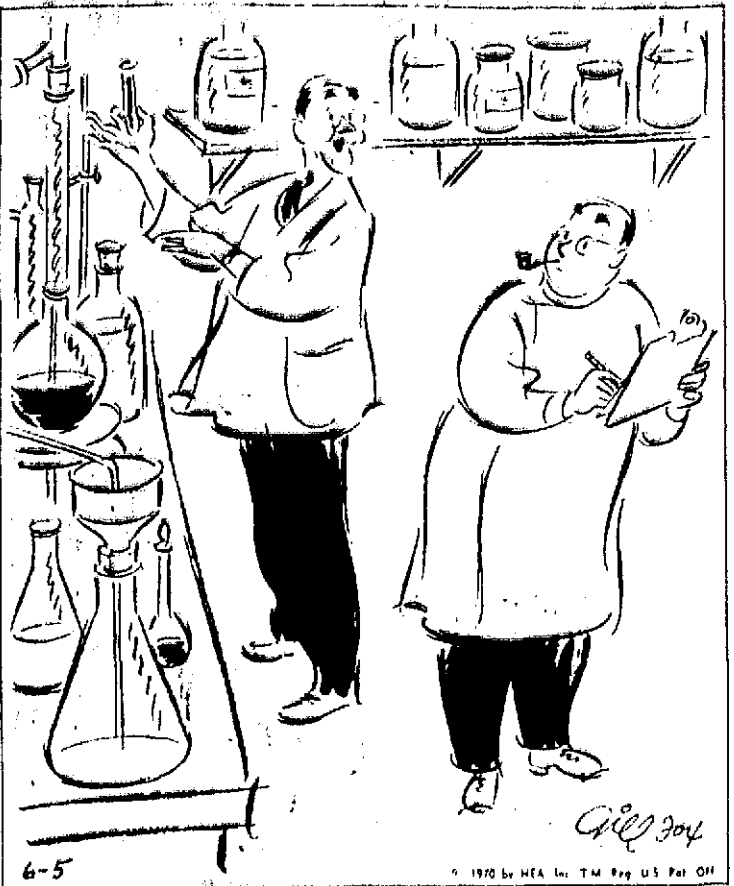

A—Multiple or repeated boils should be treated by a physician. To get them under control, an antibiotic, usually one of the penicillins, is given. In stubborn cases a weakened staphylococcus (strain 502A) is implanted on the skin and in the nose.

QUICK QUIZ By BLONDIE

Q—What insect can act as a living thermometer?
A—A chirping cricket. Crickets chirp faster as the temperature rises. On warm days, adding 37 to the number of chirps in 15 seconds will about equal the temperature.

Q—Who is the only person to win the U.S. Open, the British Open, the U.S. Amateur and the British Amateur tournaments in one year?
A—The American golfer, Bobby Jones, in 1930.

OUR FUTURE

This is a day of congratulations... a time for the rewarding of those who deserve it. They have finished a job. It is also their Commencement... young graduates must survey their individual and personal futures. It is beginning time for each. Unless they have learned well to do their duty instead of demanding their rights... unless they are qualified to take prosperity without pride, and adversity without anguish — they are unprepared for the future God has for them. This is a glad time, but it is also a most frightful, serious occasion. Eternal vigilance is the demand made by the world on those reaching this commencement hour. Today the pattern is formed, the die is cast. May every graduate from something-to-something in America, remember the words of St. Paul, who said: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do; and the God of peace shall be with you," through Your Future.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Scarred War Victims to Get Special Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smiling up from stretchers, eight severely scarred young Vietnamese victims of war have been airlifted from Saigon for special care in American hospitals—a trip delayed by what the mission's sponsors call "a maze of red tape."

"We've had all kinds of inexplicable delays," Donna Shor, of the sponsoring Committee of Responsibility, Inc., told reporters at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Thursday. "They were selected in March. We've been kept waiting by red tape ... children are waiting—in vain, sometimes."

As she spoke, the five boys and three girls, aged 11 to 17, were carried from an Air Force C-141 Military Airlift Command transport.

Although the committee—a nonprofit group of private doctors and citizens—has brought 63 Vietnamese youths to the United States since 1967 for operations, this was the first such flight since last September.

Authorities have applied the "narrowest possible criteria" in deciding which children will be brought to America for care, a committee official said.

"U.S. embassy officials demanded proof that the injuries were war-related—including records of troop movements around the children's homes," he said.

A committee spokesman said the children "suffered unnecessary and increasingly cruel delays."

"Civilian casualties remain a human problem of huge and tragic dimensions" in Vietnam despite some contentions that hospital conditions there have improved, he added.

The children, accompanied by two Vietnamese women interpreter-escorts, were sent to hospitals in Washington, Boston and Philadelphia, where they will be treated for burns and wounds, including specialized not available to them in Vietnam.

Jimmy Alford receives the Beryl Henry Award from Supt. James H. Jones. Named for former superintendent of schools, the award is for the outstanding member of the senior class according to a vote of the faculty. Jimmy has served as president of the Student Council this year. He was named to the all district and Ark. Gazette super teams. He was named National Merit Finalist and is a member of the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta Math Society.

Artis Martin receives the Hope High School Athletic Department Service Award from Counselor Earl Downs. Artis will continue his athletic career at AM&N with a full scholarship. Artis was all-conference, all-state outstanding back of the conference, will play in the all-star game, gained 1,503 yards rushing, and made 17 touchdowns.

History of Busing in Arkansas

By JANEY JOYCE
Pine Bluff Commercial
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The system of busing children to public schools has been the subject of a lot of unfavorable talk lately.

Resolutions against busing have been passed. Petitions have been circulated. Laws opposing busing have been proposed to Congress.

Not too many years ago busing was hailed by educators as the only possible way to provide a decent education for many Arkansas children.

To understand now this could be, it is necessary to examine the history of public schools in Arkansas.

Small school districts were established all over Arkansas gradually as parents began to feel the need for formal public education for their children.

By 1822 there were 2,839 separate school districts in Arkansas operating mostly one and two-room schools.

Since the state population was predominantly rural and roads and modes of transportation were primitive, it was essential that schools be located within walking distance of their pupils' homes.

So the proliferation of school districts in Arkansas continued until it reached its peak in 1912 with a total of 7,143 school districts in the state.

But people were becoming dissatisfied with the type of education that could be offered to children in small school districts. Talk of school consolidation was in the air.

There was one hitch. Schools couldn't be consolidated until there was some practical way of getting pupils to the consolidated schools.

In 1919 the state legislature provided a solution by approving a law which permitted school districts to spend school funds for pupil transportation.

And by 1928 the number of school districts in the state had dropped to 4,595.

According to the December, 1930, Journal of Arkansas Education, 81 per cent of all white schools in Arkansas were one-room schools (2,945 schools) or two-room schools (920 schools). Only 36 per cent of the white children of high school age were enrolled in high schools, the journal reported.

The journal did not mention Negro schools in its report on state schools. Nor did it record the number of Negro children of high school age who were enrolled in high schools.

By 1930 the state Education Department was able to report that 655 buses had transported 24,173 Arkansas pupils to school during the 1929-30 school year.

"There is not a county in Arkansas that does not plan for public transportation during the year 1930-31," the department's pamphlet, "Public Transportation of School Pupils," reported.

The state Education Department explained its enthusiastic support of busing in this statement published in the pamphlet:

"Arkansas is now, and will long continue to be, predominantly a rural state. The rural children must be educated in standard schools, which, of course, is impossible with a one and two-teacher system.

"Consolidated schools have to serve large areas and some people will of necessity live a long distance from school. The fact that these children are not near a school should not impair their chances of getting the training they need for life ...

"The transportation of children to school at public expense is now generally accepted by constituted education authorities as a function of the state school system."

Most school districts apparently entered into busing gradually.

In a recent interview, John H. Dial, superintendent of the Linwood School District from 1930 until his retirement in 1960, he recounted that district's experiences with busing.

Linwood, one of the first school districts in Jefferson County to bus students, began transporting white pupils to one school in about 1928.

At that time the area didn't have any roads, Dial said, "just trails."

The district's first buses were actually trucks with canopies on top and seats installed in the truck bed. This was unsatisfactory because pupils were not well protected in bad weather, Dial said.

Next the district tried panel trucks. Still not satisfactory, Dial said, because they were too small. Then hand-made bus bodies were tried. These were also not satisfactory, Dial said, because they were not too sturdy.

Satisfactory buses were finally obtained, Dial said, when such companies as Ward Body Co., of Conway began manufacturing bus bodies to be installed on truck chassis—a system that is still used today.

Busing is now a big operation in Arkansas. The state Education Department reported that She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Thornton and her grandparents are Mrs. Carl C. Thornton of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Rowe of Ozan.

In 1968-69, 386 of the 391 Arkansas school districts transported 211,325 school children to and from school each day. The number bused were slightly more than half of all pupils enrolled in state public schools.

The school districts spent a total of $9,984,571 for transportation expenses plus $385,181 for buses and other transportation equipment. The state Education Department gave these school districts a total of $7,097,497 in transportation aid that year.

Political and ideological labels are rampant these days. It's tempting to the point where some enterprising person could make money on a listing and definition of the terms.

The danger of such labels still exists. Chief Justice Warren Burger put it well the other day. He referred to the "quaint custom" in the United States of labeling judges as conservatives, moderates or liberals.

Burger added, apparently facetiously, "Now this custom of ours is harmless enough, I suppose, because it saves a great many people the burden of thinking or even reading." — Houston (Tex.) Chronicle.

Freedom Of (Some) Speech

Standard University recently was the scene of an anti-war episode which is all too representative of the phoniness of current complaints about freedom of speech.

At the conclusion of a scheduled campus demonstration against U. S. involvement in Southeast Asia, the students gradly announced an "open mike" policy for others who might wish to speak.

When a 29-year old veteran of the Vietnam War took the microphone to express a different point of view, two Third World Liberation students dashed upon him, shouting obscenities, seized the mike and threw it to the ground.

As they explained, the open mike was only "for constructive, creative ideas on ending the war. It was not freedom for the enemy to speak." Freedom of speech, it turns out, depends on what is to be spoken. — Columbia (S.C.) State

North Koreans Seize South Korean Boat

By K.C. HWANG
SEOUL (AP) — Two North Korean speedboats fired on a South Korean naval craft today in the Yellow Sea and took the boat and all 20 crewmen to the North, the South Korean Defense Ministry announced.

The incident took place in waters west of Yonpyong-Do Island, 70 miles west of Seoul, the ministry said. The general area is near the seaward extension of the military demarcation line that separates South Korea from the Communist North.

Brig. Gen. Roh Young-suh, spokesman for the ministry, said it apparently was a "premeditated attack."

He described the South Korean craft as a loudspeaker-mounted boat engaged in a routine mission to protect South Korean fishing boats operating in the area from violating the border line.

He did not say whether the South Korean vessel resisted the seizure or whether she suffered any casualties or damages in the North Korean firing.

Defense Minister Chung Naehyuk called an emergency meeting of his aides to study the situation.

The naval incident took place while a Cambodian good will mission was in Seoul to seek military assistance. South Korea has said it was ready to provide nonmilitary assistance to Cambodia but not military help at this stage.

This was the first time a South Korean naval vessel had been seized by North Korea since the armistice went into effect July 27, 1953.

Naval battles have been fought by North Korean naval vessels or infiltration boats and South Korean navy ships.

$2.2 Billion Foreign Aid Bill Approved

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After eliminating an $80 million Peace Corps expenditure and ending some political restrictions on overseas assistance, the House has approved a $2.2 billion foreign aid bill.

The cuts made the bill, passed Thursday 193 to 15, the lowest foreign aid appropriation since the program was initiated in 1946.

The Senate, however, is expected to restore the money to finance next year's Peace Corps operations. And nearly all political restrictions cut from the bill remain in effect through other laws.

The cuts were made Thursday on parliamentary maneuvers. Not a cent was taken from the original $2.3 billion bill by House vote.

Of the $2.22 billion total, $1.6 billion is for economic and military assistance abroad. The remainder is for programs related to foreign assistance.

One of the few actual losses appeared to be a sense-of-Congress proviso that Red China should be refused admission to the United Nations.

Most of the political restrictions have been renewed in the annual money bill for 18 years without ever being challenged. Their removal was pressed by House Foreign Affairs Committee members on grounds they have no business in a money bill.

Included were provisions that aid should not be supplied to countries supplying arms or assistance to North Vietnam or Cuba, restrictions against use of funds to build up arsenals, supplying aid to Communist countries, and others.

Nearly all are contained in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, House members said.

The $80 million Peace Corps money was knocked out on grounds Congress has not yet authorized the money.

The House is expected to approve restoration of all or most of the Peace Corps funds after the authorization is passed and the Senate puts the money in a separate appropriation bill.

All three efforts to cut foreign aid by House vote were defeated.

An amendment to scratch $155 million from the program for technical assistance to underdeveloped countries lost 53 to 19 and an amendment to cut $800,000 for assistance to Cuban refugees in this country lost 45 to 40.

Another amendment by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa—one of foreign aids' most vocal critics—to kill the whole $2.2 billion for next year was defeated 70 to 18.

Answer These Questions and You Really Will Question the Answers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Have you been worrying lately about whether you are mentally normal?

If you are really interested in learning whether you're batty or just confused, simply answer the following questions:

Do you believe that the Internal Revenue Service deliberately writes its tax forms in bafflegab so that, no matter how you fill them out, you are still at the government's mercy?

When you thought no one would see you, did you ever as a child pull a cat's tail just to see what would happen?

Are you convinced that you had a greater respect and a deeper love for your father and mother than your children have for theirs? But in your heart of hearts, wouldn't you grudgingly agree that one reason for this perhaps, is that you had better parents than they do.

Don't you get a bigger kick out of getting something for nothing than you do by working nothing?

Fair, Warm Predicted for Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Weather Bureau is predicting a fair and warm weekend for Arkansas, following a week of thundershowers and cooler temperatures.

The highs Saturday will be in the upper 70s and lower 80s. Thunderstorms and heavy showers were scattered over the state Thursday afternoon, with several reaching severe proportions in Central and Northcentral Arkansas.

Morrilton reported a half inch hail covering the ground with almost an inch of rain recorded in 20 minutes. Marshall and Harrison also had heavy showers and strong winds.

However, officials said no damage was reported due to the storm.

Highs Thursday ranged from 80 at Memphis to 66 at Fayetteville.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A frustrated taxpayer with a $471 grudge against the government hijacked a jet airliner with 51 passengers and demanded $100 million ransom before two pilots captured him in a tense cockpit gun battle.

Bags stuffed with paper tricked the hijacker into a second landing at Dulles International Airport where marksmen shot out the plane's tires and passengers fled to safety through window exits minutes before the cockpit gunfire began Thursday night.

Warns About Exploitations by Russians

By RICHARD P. POWERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today the Soviet Union's calculated "exploitation" of American antiwar sentiment could eliminate the United States as a global power without a shot being fired.

The growing pacifist mood over Vietnam, Ford said, has spawned a new isolationism and prompted Americans to think it "abhorrent to take great risks involved in acting like a global power."

This, he said, is playing into the hands of Soviet strategists whose "objective has always been the same—to destroy the United States' will to resist."

In a speech prepared for graduation exercises of the National War College at Ft. McNair, the Michigan congressman cited the Prussian military theorist, Von Clausewitz, who wrote the purpose of war is not the physical destruction of the enemy but the destruction of the enemy's will to resist.

"It is in Indochina that the Soviet Union has come closest to destroying the U.S. will to resist," Ford said.

"We have seen a rise in pacifist sentiment, skillfully exploited by American subversives and revolutionaries. We have seen continuing demands that U.S. military spending be cut below the point of marginal risk," he added.

"A strong wave of neo-isolationism has swept over a segment of the American people—notably many of our college students and some members of the United States Congress.

"The basis for the new isolationism is the growing feeling among the American people that the game has never been worth the candle in Vietnam," he said.

Rockefeller to Make It Official

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller makes an announcement Tuesday that will be surprising only if he will not be a candidate for a third term.

Most everyone thinks he will run again.

Rockefeller has refused repeatedly to say what he plans to do, but finally promised a 2:30 p.m. Tuesday statement of his political intentions.

Along the way, however, he has dropped what have been considered hints that he will seek renomination in the Republican primary.

In his latest statement, Rockefeller said last week that he came away from a 10-day tour of France with "stronger leanings" toward running.

He had said previously that he was giving "serious consideration" to seeking re-election if it was in the best interests of the state and the Republican party.

He coupled that remark in a letter to Republican officials with a reiteration of an earlier comment that he was "naive" in 1964 when he said that he wanted to serve no more than two terms.

His two-term commitment was contained in a 16-point "statement of beliefs" that he set out in his unsuccessful 1964 campaign against former Gov. Orval E. Faubus. The governor told members of Boys State Thursday that if he did chose to run again this would be the only point in his statement of beliefs that he would have failed to honor.

Considered another indicator of Rockefeller's plans is the revelation by his public relations staff that the governor had leased the first two floors

Church Declares Nixon Backs Proposal to Slow Cambodia Operation

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has endorsed a Senate amendment Sen. Frank Church says would "largely emasculate" his proposal to restrict future U.S. operations in Cambodia.

Nixon made the endorsement of the amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., in a letter to Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

"The Byrd amendment reaffirms the constitutional duty of the commander-in-chief to take actions necessary to protect the lives of United States forces and is consistent with the responsibilities of my office," Nixon wrote Scott after a White House conference Thursday.

"Therefore," the President said, "it goes a long way toward eliminating my more serious objections to the Cooper-Church amendment."

Nixon referred to a proposal by Sens. Church and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to cut off all funds for U.S. operations in Cambodia after June 30.

Byrd's amendment looms as the key to the current Senate fight on U.S. involvement in Cambodia, which has entered its fourth week.

Other sources indicated a vote may come next Thursday on the Byrd amendment, which would in effect authorize the President to repeat the current U.S. attack into Cambodia if he finds it necessary to protect American troops in Vietnam.

The President also wants the pending restrictions changed to authorize U.S. financial support for military operations by Thai or other Asian forces to bolster the beleaguered Cambodian government headed by Lon Nol.

Nixon cited the doctrine, he outlined last year at Guam "establishing a policy for Asian nations to defend themselves, with American material assistance and technical help."

Scott said in a statement, "I am extremely pleased with the letter and I have twice discussed its contents with the President." It was understood this referred to a telephone conversation after Nixon's speech Wednesday night and Thursday's meeting at the White House.

Neither change is believed acceptable to Church, D-Idaho, and Cooper, cosponsors of the pending proposal, which is itself an amendment to military sales authorization legislation.

Debate on the measure entered its fourth week Thursday with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield reiterating he will not lay it aside for other administration-backed legislation, including the House-passed bill to increase the federal debt ceiling by $18 billion.

Congressional failure to pass his measure by the end of the month could leave the govern-

Jobless Rate Climbs for 5th Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate climbed in May for the fifth straight month, rising from 4.8 to 5 per cent of the labor force for the highest rate in more than five years, the government said today.

The Labor Department said the number of jobless rose 160,000 to a total of 4.1 million. It said all of the increase was caused by workers who lost their jobs rather than new entrants in the labor force.

Total employment, which usually rises substantially in May, instead dropped 475,000 to 78.4 million, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The figures are adjusted by the bureau in line with normal seasonal expectations.

The actual number of unemployed was 3.4 million, down 170,000 from April, but "unemployment usually falls more than this in May and, as a result, joblessness was up by 160,000 after seasonal adjustment to 4.1 million," the bureau said.

The bureau also reported that average earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose two cents to $3.20 an hour and were up $1.06 a week to $118.72 weekly. This represented increases of 19 cents an hour or 6.3 per cent over the past year and $5.24 or 4.6 per cent a week. The nation's sharpest inflation in 20 years, however, more than wiped out the wage gains, leaving workers seven-tenths of one per cent behind in purchasing power, the report said.

"Since December, unemployment has risen by nearly 1.3 million—600,000 men, 425,000 women and 225,000 teen-agers," the bureau said.

"Thus far this year, the unemployment rate has risen from 3.5 per cent in December to 5 per cent in May, the sharpest increase for a five-month span in more than a decade," the report said. "Most of the current increase has been among full-time workers, although the part-time rate has also risen."
